

The University of South Florida St. Petersburg is a regional university within the University of South Florida System. It's a community of scholars, a community of students and a community of administrators that enjoy working with one another and hope and try to improve the success of our students. The strongest points of the University of South Florida St. Petersburg relate to the friendliness on campus, the closeness and accessibility of the faculty, the small sizes of the classes and the general atmosphere and location of the institution.

This institution has it all. It has the opportunity to play, it has the opportunity to challenge the intellect and it has the opportunity to be a true university community.

Since 2006 we have developed more than 70 university organizations including several honors societies, a comprehensive waterfront program and other supporting activities for students in a co-curricular environment. And we would welcome and encourage others to join us as we become one of the top notch regional universities in the country.
