Proposal by the Department of Journalism and Media Studies

Jennifer Baker distributed a proposal from Journalism. Tony Silvia and an academic advisor will be invited to the January UG meeting where the proposal will be discussed.

Course change proposal for the College of Education

Bonnie Braun presented the College of Education's request to add a one-credit course: EDG 4909: Introduction to Standards-Based Education to the Elementary Education, the Exception Student Education, and the English Education programs. This course replaces the standard based education course that is now being offered as a special topics course. Jennifer Baker asked that the final proposal include a listing of the existing and proposed course requirements to illustrate that the College is not asking for additional credit requirements. With that change, the proposal was unanimously approved by the Undergraduate Council members present.

Course proposal process

Jennifer Baker provided new members of the Undergraduate Council with a brief description of the process for course approval once the UG has approved a proposal.

Meeting adjourned 11:05 am.

Next meeting

Jennifer Baker will poll the Council to determine the best meeting time for spring semester. The meeting time is tentatively set as the second Monday of the month at 10:00 am pending the results of the poll.

Tentatively scheduled for January 8, 2007 (second Monday of the month) at 10:00 am

Respectfully submitted,
Tina Neville
Secretary
