Program Pre-requisites

- ARH 2050 and 2051 must be used to satisfy the General Education Historical requirement if the student is to remain within 120 hours for the degree.
- 3MMC 3602 may be used to satisfy the General Education Social Sciences requirement.
- 2ART 2201C or 2203C must be used to satisfy the General Education Fine Arts requirement.
- Art studio electives beyond the above.

Program Overview

The BFA degree in Graphic Design prepares students in the USFSP Graphic Design program to develop imagery, create and manipulate visual messages, foster and sustain beauty, and help solve visual problems. As students progress through the program, they begin and complete their upper-level program for juniors and seniors. Approximately twenty students participate in the upper-level program during the year begins. New students will receive the BFA in Graphic Design if they complete the program; they begin and complete their upper-level requirements as well as the junior/senior classes.

Most Frequently Asked Questions

- Where can I see a course list of the junior/senior classes?
  - The Undergraduate Catalog online will tell you all the descriptions of the upper-level requirements as well as descriptions of individual courses. You can also check the website for the Program in Graphic Design.

- How many students apply each year for admission to the program?
  - It depends on the year but averages 200 applicants for the program. Admission is competitive, so it is important to do your best work in the prerequisite courses and to seek recommendations.

- How can I learn more about the junior/senior classes?*
  - We play with knives and glue!